I think we all agree that there is, throughout whatever course a student is taking, there is a definite lack of study skills, most importantly, the skill of being organized.

So I decided to make it easy for everyone, including students, by creating a video notebook. What's so cool about this video notebook? It goes 1 to 1 with my videos, and so a student can watch one of my videos and just slowly take notes. Everything's in proper order according to how I presented it on a video. And when a student is done with the video, they've got a set of notes they can use for that section.
