

With dual enrollment, concurrent enrollment, and dual credit course offerings expanding across the U.S., Pearson is here to help you prepare students for college and careers. We offer print, digital, and blended content to meet the unique academic and career and technical needs of both higher education and high schools. Our products are affordable, effective, and easy to use for both regular and extended learning time. Based on learning science and efficacy studies, MyLab, Mastering, and Revel digital platforms feature rigorous, interactive content to keep students engaged. And MathXL for School is a powerful K-12 online homework assessment and tutorial program that supplements any core curriculum. Check out our webpages to learn more and read about some of our successful partnerships.